01 Summary

In September, armed conflict continued in Chinland. Local Chin armed organizations carried out a mine attack on junta troops in Tedim Township, an assault on a military camp of the junta-aligned Zomi Revolutionary Army-Eastern Command in Tonzang Township, and an attack on junta police personnel in Hakha town. Meanwhile, a junta force of around 500 troops advanced from Laungshe town, Magway Region, into Kanpetlet Township, Chinland, towards Kyindwe town, and is attempting to take control of several Chinland villages along the Laungshe-Kyindwe road.

Amid military and political conflict, the Chinland Government, led by its Ministry of Defence, is preparing to enact a Chinland Defence Law and to bring the Chin National Army and local defence forces together under a single chain of command under the supervision of the civilian government. The Chinland Supreme Court is also preparing capacity-building training for judicial staff to strengthen its links with township and regional courts. Under the leadership of the Ministry of Home Affairs, a workshop on two-way engagement between local governments and the public, attended by local representatives, was held and adopted 14 working guidelines. In addition, several Chinland local governments carried out road repairs in their areas to ease public travel, and issued local orders, including on fish resource conservation and rules on arms and ammunition. In the education sector, the Chinland Government's Ministry of Education issued a warning not to engage with schools and offices under the junta, and the Zopheiram local government opened the third intake of its Community Development Program diploma course. The Chinland Government sent a message to the National League for Democracy on the party's 38th anniversary, and the Chin National Front sent a message to the International Day of Democracy ceremony held by the Committee Representing the Pyidaungsu Hluttaw.

On the India-Myanmar border adjoining Chinland, the Lawngtlai District Administrator in Mizoram State issued orders including a night curfew for refugees and foreigners and a requirement to obtain work permits, and announced that illegal vehicles and trade along the Kaladan Multi-Modal Transit Transport Project route passing through Zorinpui will be strictly checked. After a camp of a Mara youth organization in Khaikhy village, Saiha District, Mizoram State, was burned and destroyed, trade routes to Paletwa Township, Chinland, used by Rakhine traders were temporarily closed. They were reopened after officials of the United League of Arakan and the Mara youth organization met and negotiated.

Mizoram State authorities continued to arrest drug traffickers, seizing 33.246 kilograms of methamphetamine tablets and 256 grams of heroin from seven male Myanmar nationals in three districts: Serchhip, Saitual and Champhai. Likewise, in Kalay town, Sagaing Region, which is considered the main route for drugs entering Chinland, the relevant department of the junta seized 105 kilograms of methamphetamine tablets from two men and one woman.

On the humanitarian situation, heavy rain and stream erosion washed away and destroyed one church and one house in Khaikam town, Tedim Township. In Aizawl, Mizoram State, authorities ordered 45 displaced households from Matupi Township at Seimawl IDP Camp-2 to relocate, and they are facing relocation costs and difficulties finding a place to live. Similarly, around 800 displaced people from Matupi Township at Thiak Rawl IDP camp are facing shortages of food and shelter. Inside Chinland, displaced people are still unable to return to their places of origin, so humanitarian assistance needs continue.

The junta targeted civilians with at least 12 airstrikes in Kanpetlet, Matupi and Mindat Townships. In these airstrikes, two male civilians were injured, and at least one church, one clergy residence, two schools and five civilian homes were damaged.

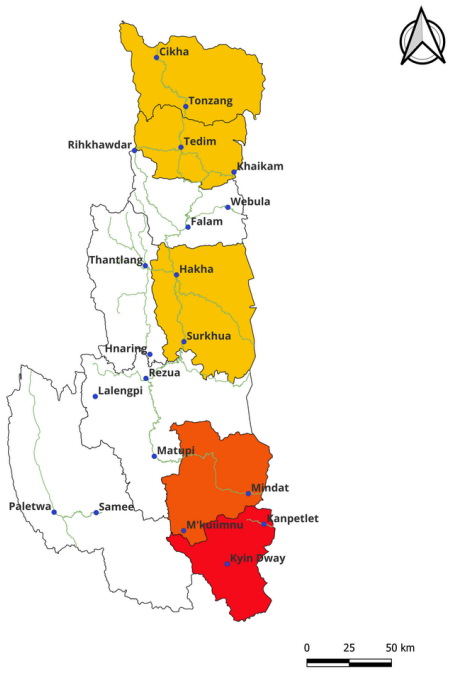

In other incidents, indiscriminate heavy weapons fire by the junta from the Magway Region-Chinland border killed a civilian couple living on a hillside farm near Mindat town. In addition, in Tedim Township, during an exchange of fire between escaped prisoners of war and a local defence force, a Christian pastor was hit by a bullet and killed, and one male civilian was injured. Separately, two civilians were killed and three were injured after stepping on a landmine.

On human rights protection, the Chin Human Rights Organization (CHRO) attended the 63rd session of the UN Human Rights Council (HRC63) in Geneva and called for effective international attention and concrete action on human rights violations in Chinland and Myanmar. The Global Khumi Organization (GKO) and the Chin National Council-Matupi objected to the United League of Arakan (ULA) forcibly imposing a Rakhine-language curriculum in Paletwa Township, Chinland, as a violation of the UN Declaration on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples (UNDRIP).

03 Political Developments and Local Governance

ADMINISTRATION AND RULE OF LAW

1 SEPTEMBER The Lautu Area People's Administration Body issued a local order in the Lautu area of Thantlang Township, Chinland, banning certain fishing methods during the fish spawning season, including fishing, poisoning and the use of dynamite or explosives, to prevent fish species from becoming extinct and to conserve fish resources. The order states that violations will be punished with a fine of at least MMK 100,000 (1 lakh) and up to MMK 5,000,000 (50 lakh), in addition to action under existing laws.

2 SEPTEMBER The Speaker of the Chinland Parliament said that, led by the Chinland Government's Minister of Defence, the Chinland Parliament, the Ministry of Defence and the Defence Coordination Team (DCT) are jointly preparing, as a priority next step, to draft and enact a Chinland Defence Law. Before the law is enacted, Terms of Reference (ToR) setting out basic operating procedures for defence forces have been prepared and sent to the relevant organizations. The Chinland Government is also continuing its force-formation process so that the Chin National Army and all Chinland Defense Forces come under a single chain of command under the supervision and control of the civilian government.

2 TO 7 SEPTEMBER The Zotung Federal Council announced that landslides caused by heavy rain on the Gangaw-Rezua and Matupi-Rezua-Hakha road sections in the Zotung area, Chinland, have been cleared with machinery, and travellers and vehicles can now move normally again.

3 SEPTEMBER To maintain security, stability and the rule of law in the Senthang area of Hakha Township, Chinland, the Senthang Central Council issued a prohibition: no one may carry weapons, ammunition or military equipment without a valid official licence or recommendation letter issued by the relevant revolutionary armed group; any military equipment found must not be kept privately but must be handed over immediately to the relevant authority; and anyone who does not comply will face action.

5 SEPTEMBER Chinland Defense Force-Mara, in the Mara area of Chinland, issued a warning that no one may carry arms and ammunition, or move around armed, in areas under its control without official permission or documentation. It said the set rules and regulations must be followed because, in addition to junta airstrikes, informants (dalan) are moving around on the ground.

16 SEPTEMBER Chinland Defense Force-Hualngoram announced that the road connecting Tedim town, Chinland, and Rihkhawdar town in the Hualngoram area on the India-Myanmar border has been temporarily closed for public safety due to the current military situation.

To address challenges such as work processes coming to a halt because judges in lower courts change frequently, strengthening links between courts and capacity-building training for judicial staff are being planned as priorities.

24 SEPTEMBER The Chinland Government's Ministry of Education issued a warning that, because the junta is persuading and threatening self-reliant schools in areas controlled by Chin revolutionary organizations to link up with its schools in order to gain legitimacy, people in Chinland must not engage in any way with schools and offices under the junta, and any existing links must be stopped as soon as possible.

A joint delegation of CHRO and the Chin Community in Denmark (CCDK) met the Permanent Mission of Malaysia to the United Nations in Geneva. It urged Malaysia not to deport Myanmar refugees and asylum seekers in Malaysia, because those arrested and sent back to Myanmar may face forced conscription by the junta, arbitrary arrest and torture, and to continue to press within ASEAN for the protection of civilians, unhindered humanitarian access and action against those responsible.

9 SEPTEMBER The Chin National Council-Matupi issued a statement strongly objecting to a plan to replace Myanmar language with a new Rakhine-language curriculum in schools in Paletwa Township, Chinland, without the consent of Chin ethnic people.
